Dear Mr. Meredith,

I'm sure you must be overwhelmed with mail from many people you don't know but I feel strangely compelled to write to you.

As you might know Uganda gets its independence on Tues. and just being here for a year makes me a prime target for people's questions about the States. So often the Africans try to compare the States to the Union of South Africa and I attempt to explain how different they are. After last week, though, I don't know any more.

Mr. Meredith, you will not be forgotten. Your courage and faith are really marvelous. Forgive us for what has been done.

I don't know if it helps any but I just want you to know that I think of you often and I thank you.

Sincerely,

Miss Laura Davidson
